Florida Public High School Graduation Rates, 2008-09

Series 2010-09D

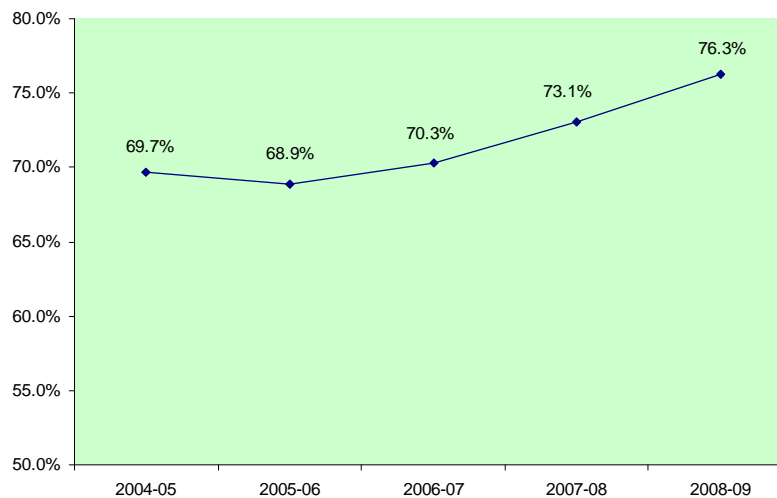

November 2009

Florida's Change to Reporting the NGA Compact Graduation Rate

In September 2009, the Florida State Board of Education (SBE) approved the state's new high school grading formula, which incorporates graduation rates into the grading of high schools. The graduation rate the SBE chose to use in the new grading formula is the state's National Governors Association (NGA) Compact rate, which includes standard and special diplomas but excludes GEDs, both regular and adult. Florida is using this rate in place of its regular rate because the U.S. Department of Education (ED) is moving all states to adopt a uniform calculation method by 2010-11, that includes standard diplomas but excludes GEDs and special diplomas. Using the NGA rate now helps to transition Florida to the new federal rate when it becomes effective.

Florida's NGA high school graduation rate has consistently increased during the past five years, fluctuating from 69.7 percent in 2004-05 to 76.3 percent in 2008-09.

Florida calculates a cohort graduation rate. A cohort is defined as a group of students on the same schedule to graduate. The graduation rate measures the percentage of students who graduate within four years of their first enrollment in ninth grade. Subsequent to their enrollment in ninth grade, exiting transfers and deceased students are removed from the calculation. Entering transfer students are included in the count of the class with which they are scheduled to graduate, based on their date of enrollment. NGA graduation rates have been reported in the No Child Left Behind (NCLB) School Public Accountability Reports (SPARs) since 2005-06 and are provided on-line at <http://doeweb-prd.doe.state.fl.us/eds/nclbpar/index.cfm>. District level graduation rates are provided in tables 8 through 14.

Types of Graduation Rates Calculated in Florida

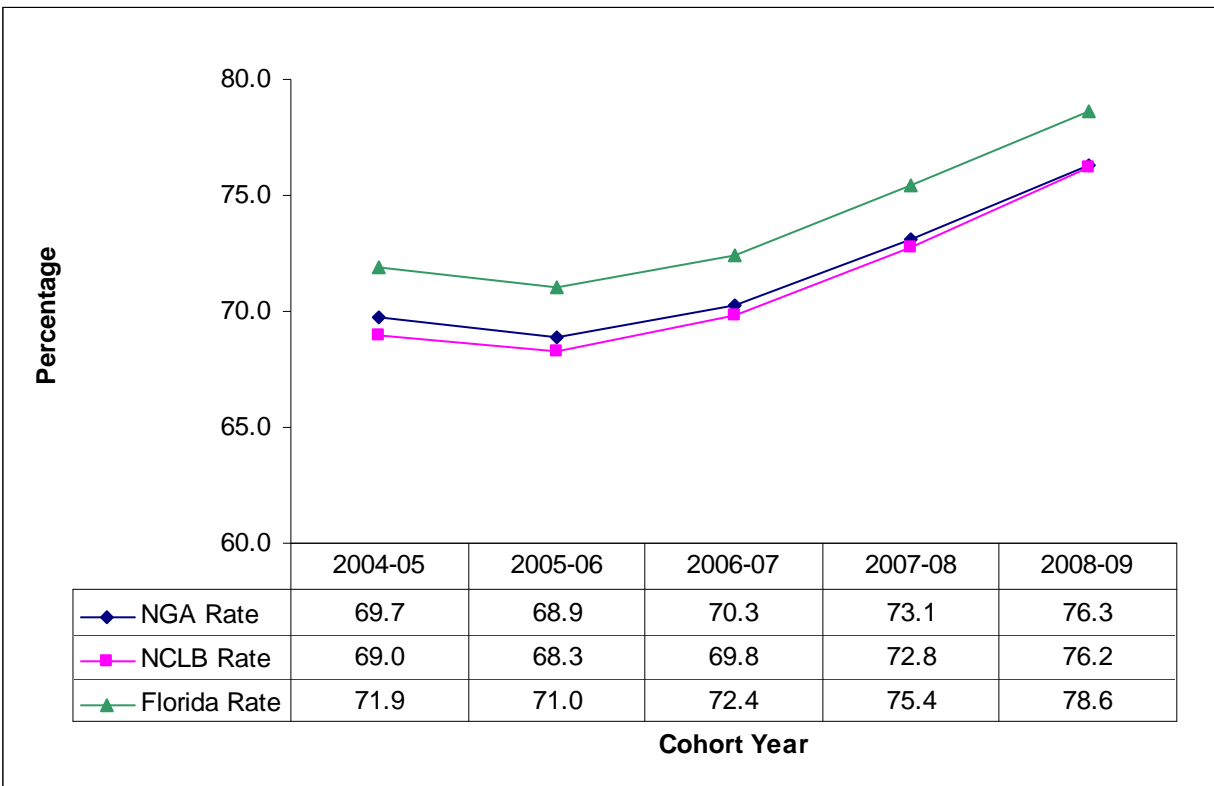

Florida currently calculates three graduation rates: the NGA rate, detailed above, was mandated by the Florida Legislature in 2006 to meet an agreement with the National Governors Association Compact and was first implemented using the data for 2004-05 and reported in the 2005-06 NCLB SPARs; a rate for No Child Left Behind (NCLB) reporting purposes, implemented in 2001; and Florida's regular rate that has been calculated consistently since 1998-99.

All three versions use the cohort method of tracking individual students in and out of the system from their entrance into the ninth grade through completion four years later. However, each rate defines a graduate differently. The differences between the NGA rate, the NCLB rate, and Florida's regular graduation rate are as follows:

- The NGA graduation rate counts as graduates recipients of standard and special diplomas but not GEDs.
- The NCLB graduation rate counts as graduates recipients of standard diplomas and GEDs awarded to high school students but not special diplomas and GEDs awarded to adult students.
- Florida's regular rate counts all diploma recipients as graduates. This includes standard and special diplomas and all GEDs.

The chart below shows an increase for all three versions of the graduation rate from 2004-05 to 2008-09.

Florida's Rates versus National Graduation Rate Rankings

Many national organizations, including the ED, and other interest groups estimate graduation rates, which usually differ significantly from one another. It can be quite confusing and often misleading when various organizations release national graduation rankings, but they do not match the rate Florida released. Student database systems and data collection methodologies vary from state to state, and national studies must rely on the lowest common denominators available across all states to make comparisons. Additionally, not all states have fully implemented a longitudinal data system, as Florida has. This means that national-level studies do not follow the precise methodology for calculating graduation rates that Florida uses, and are, therefore, merely estimates of graduating students rather than exact counts and percentages.

The ED mandated in October 2008 that all states implement a "uniform, comparable graduation rate," which is cohort-based, by 2010-11. As stated earlier, Florida has calculated a cohort graduation rate since 1998-99 and is well positioned to meet this mandate. As other states transition to the cohort method and the "uniform" graduation rate, calculations will be consistent across states and more valid national comparisons can be made.

Diploma Types

There are several types of diplomas Florida students may receive upon completion. A complete list of the diploma definitions and their applications to each calculation, respectively, are provided in Appendix A. Table 4 details the number of each type of diploma awarded for the past five cohorts.

Graduation Rates versus Dropout Rates

Further confusion occurs when comparing the graduation rates to the dropout rates. These rates are not inverses of one another. The differences are as follows:

The rates apply to different periods of measurement.

- Graduation rate is a four-year, cohort-based indicator.
- Dropout rate is a single-year indicator.

The rates apply to different populations.

- Graduation rate tracks the progress of a group of students who entered the same grade at the same time over a four-year period.
- Dropout rate tracks all ninth- through twelfth-grade students in a single year.

Florida's NGA graduation rate is 76.3 percent, but that doesn't mean that 23.7 percent of the cohort are dropouts. In a cohort students can be classified as graduates, dropouts, and non-graduates. The non-graduates are those students who have been retained and are still in school or students who received certificates of completion.

Dropout Rates

Florida's dropout rate is the percentage of ninth- through twelfth-grade dropouts compared to the ninth- through twelfth-grade total, year-long student membership. A dropout is defined as a student who withdraws from school for any of several reasons without transferring to another school, home education program, or adult education program. The definitions for a dropout are listed below in Table 7.

The 2008-09 dropout rate for Florida has declined for the third year in a row. District-level dropout rates are provided in Table 15.

Frequently Asked Questions about Florida's Cohort Graduation Rates

What is a cohort?

For graduation purposes, a cohort is a group of students who enter the ninth grade at the same time on the same schedule to graduate four years later.

How is the cohort graduation rate calculated?

The graduation rate is the number of graduates (numerator) divided by the total number of students in the adjusted cohort (denominator).

The denominator (adjusted cohort) is attained by compiling and classifying four years of individual student records to determine which students entered ninth grade for the first time four years prior to the year of the rate calculation; which students transferred into the cohort in ninth grade in year one, tenth grade in year two, eleventh grade in year three, and twelfth grade in year four; and which students from the group transferred out or became deceased.

The numerator is the number of graduates from the adjusted cohort.

Are graduation rates disaggregated by student subgroups?

The NGA, NCLB, and Florida rates are disaggregated by race. The NCLB rate has also been disaggregated by additional subgroups, including gender, disabled, English Language Learners, economically disadvantaged (students eligible for free/reduced-price lunch), and migrant students. Beginning with the 2008-09 cohort, all three rates will be disaggregated by the additional subgroups.

What are the advantages to using a cohort graduation rate method?

The cohort method allows adjustment for students' mobility, thus providing a more accurate picture of the students' progress and outcomes.

How are students appropriately assigned to a cohort?

Students are assigned to a cohort based upon their initial entry into ninth grade. Incoming students are included in the cohort for which they were originally scheduled to graduate. For example, students transferred into the cohort in ninth grade in year one, tenth grade in year two, eleventh grade in year three, and twelfth grade in year four.

How are students appropriately removed from a cohort?

Currently students transferring to another public or private school, a home education program, or an adult education program, in addition to deceased students are removed from the cohort.

Where can I find a complete list of the withdrawal and diploma codes used in Florida?

Appendices A and B in the Database Manuals for the Automated Student Database System, online at <http://www.fldoe.org/eias/dataweb/default.asp>, provide all the withdrawal and diploma codes.

If a dropout re-enrolls in another high school, how is this student counted in the four-year graduation rate?

For graduation rate purposes, a prior dropout should be updated to a transfer if the student is later found enrolled in another school. Keep in mind, the goal of the cohort graduation rate is to determine the final educational outcome for all students during the four-year window.

How are students who are retained handled?

The student remains in the same cohort no matter how many times they are retained.

What happens if a student who was retained in ninth grade in year one of the cohort transfers to another school in year two of the cohort?

This student remains in the original cohort. He does not "start over" in another cohort. The graduation rate is based upon the students' initial entry into ninth grade – it is not based upon their initial entry into ninth grade at a particular school. An accurate graduation rate reflects the final outcome of all students four years after their initial entry into ninth grade. Cohort-based graduation rates are accurate only if each student is assigned to a single cohort. The ED's Non-Regulatory Guidance paper for NCLB addresses this issue:

“If a student who has repeated a grade transfers into a school, the student should be assigned to the cohort in which the student started 9th grade for the first time. This assignment prevents the student from being included in two separate cohorts of 9th graders—the cohort in which the student originally started 9th grade and the cohort in which the student was assigned in the school to which he or she transferred. Unless the student skipped a grade later in high school or caught up with the original cohort in some other manner, that student could not graduate within four years of starting 9th grade.”<sup>1</sup>

How are students who graduated early, such as those who graduate with the 18 hour diploma, counted?

Students who graduate early are still counted in the cohort for which they were originally assigned. Remember, when calculating the cohort rate we are looking back four years prior. If a student enters ninth grade in 2005-06 and graduates in 2007-08, this student would not be counted as a graduate until 2008-09.

What about students who take longer than four years to graduate?

Students taking longer than four years to graduate would be considered non-graduates in the four-year cohort graduation rate.

Are summer graduates included in the graduation rate?

Yes, summer graduates are counted if they graduate by the end of the current school year.

If a student gets a certificate of completion at the end of the year but takes a course in summer school to earn the required 2.0 GPA, does he count in the graduation rate if he attains the GPA before June 30?

Yes, if the student is reported with an applicable diploma type on the Student End of Year Status records submitted to the DOE for that school year. If the student is not reported with a diploma on the end-of-year records for that year, the student will not be counted as a graduate.

Does the student who earns a certificate of completion but has not passed the FCAT count as a graduate if he takes the ACT in June and gets the concordant score before June 30?

The student will count if he is awarded a diploma by the district and it is reported with a diploma code on the end-of-year record for the applicable school year.

The DOE will identify graduates for the graduation rate based on the diploma type reported for students on the Student End of Year Status record format. Survey 5 data collected on end-of-year records covers students who were enrolled at any time during the 180-day school year, as well as during the school year's associated summer session, as reported by the districts. A student who is not reported with a diploma type on end-of-year records would not be counted as a graduate. A student's status is determined by the most recently reported withdrawal code, certificate type, or diploma type on the end-of-year records.

Does a student who leaves a regular high school and transfers to an adult high school and earns an adult diploma count in the graduation rate?

A student would not count as a graduate in the graduation rate for the regular high school if his/her most recently reported end-of-year data indicated that he/she transferred out of the regular high school as a withdrawal to attend adult education (database code W26). Students who are reported as having received a regular high school diploma through an adult program (database code W43, or W52) are counted as graduates.

Why does Florida calculate more than one graduation rate?

Florida currently calculates three graduation rates: Florida's NGA rate, detailed above, was mandated by the Florida Legislature in 2006 to meet an agreement with the National Governor's Association Compact and was first implemented using the data for 2004-05 and reported in the 2005-06 NCLB School Public Accountability Reports (SPARs); a rate for No Child Left Behind (NCLB) reporting purposes, implemented in 2001; and Florida's regular rate that has been calculated consistently since 1998-99.

All three versions use the cohort method of tracking individual students in and out of the system from their entrance into the ninth grade through completion four years later. However, each rate defines a graduate differently. The differences between the NGA rate, the NCLB rate, and the regular graduation rate are as follows:

- The NGA graduation rate includes standard and special diplomas but excludes all GEDs.

- The NCLB graduation rate includes standard diplomas and GEDs awarded to high school students but excludes the special diplomas and the GEDs awarded to adult students.
- Florida's regular rate includes all diploma recipients. This includes standard and special diplomas and all GEDs.

Which graduation rate will be used in the school grades calculation?

For years 2009-10 and 2010-11, the department will use the National Governors Association (NGA) graduation rate in the high school grading formula. If federal requirements for the uniform rate change in the interim, Florida's federal uniform rate will be adjusted accordingly. The Bureau of Evaluation and Reporting should be contacted for more specific information at evalnrpt@fldoe.org.

Is the NGA rate the same as the federal uniform graduation rate?

No. The NGA graduation rate counts standard and special diplomas as graduates, whereas the federal graduation rate counts only standard diplomas. Both calculations count GEDs as non-graduates.

Why was the NGA rate selected for school grades purposes?

The NGA rate more closely resembles the federal uniform graduation rate in that neither calculation counts GEDs as graduates.

What is the "federal uniform graduation rate"?

As defined in 34 C.F.R. §200.19(b)(1)(i)-(iv), "the four-year adjusted cohort graduation rate (hereafter referred to as "the four-year graduation rate") is the number of students who graduate in four years with a regular high school diploma divided by the number of students who form the adjusted cohort for the graduating class. From the beginning of 9th grade, students who are entering that grade for the first time form a cohort that is subsequently "adjusted" by adding any students who transfer into the cohort later during the 9th grade and the next three years and subtracting any students who transfer out, emigrate to another country, or die during that same period. "

Only standard diplomas are counted as graduates, and transfers can only be removed from the cohort if the student transfers to an educational program that culminates with a standard diploma.

Florida already has the tracking system in place to calculate the cohort graduation rate. However, Florida must adjust its list of applicable graduates and transfers in order to fully comply with the new rules as set forth in Section 200.19(b)(1)(ii)(B)(1).

Federal guidelines stipulate that only students who transfer to another school or educational program that culminates with a standard diploma can be removed from the cohort.

Which students are currently removed from the cohort?

Transfers to other public schools, private schools, home education programs, or adult educational programs are currently considered as transfers and removed from the cohort.

Why can't the graduation rate and the dropout rate be added together to get 100%?

The rates apply to different periods of measurement

- Graduation rate is a four-year, cohort-based indicator.
- Dropout rate is a single-year indicator.

The rates apply to different populations

- Graduation rate tracks the progress of a group of students who entered the same grade at the same time over a four-year period.
- Dropout rate tracks all ninth- through twelfth-grade students in a single year.

Not all non-graduates in the cohort are dropouts. Some students have been retained and are still in school, and some students received certificates of completions. These completers are considered non-graduates, not dropouts.
